(Supported Cohort / Transitions Inquiry) Emily, Kadin, Alyssa, Yuijin, and Casey

I've been learning….

Emily: In English 10 to write paragraphs, in Careers 10 we've been learning about career research (jobs, resumes, cover letters, and interviews). In Social Studies 10 I've been learning about 20th century history. In Science 10 I am learning about the earth science such as plate tectonics, earthquake and volcanoes.

Kadin: A lot of things I didn't know about science, careers, social studies, and English. Learning why the world is how it is today. I can understand how the early changes and sometimes thinking about what type of career I would be good at.

Alyssa: About world war 1 and Earth science such as plate tectonics, earthquakes, and volcanoes.

Yuijin: I've been learning about world war 1 in Social Studies. I've been learning about poetry in English. I've been learning about work safety in Careers. I've been learning about the Physics of motion, such as velocity, displacement, and acceleration in Science.

Casey: In careers, writing resumes, in social studies, WWI, in English, writing paragraphs, in Science, earth science. I've been learning about the history of the 19th century to the 20th century including WW1, Aboriginal Veterans, and the Great Depression in Social Studies. I did career researching such as choosing the job that matches my strengths, writing resumes, making cover letters, and preparing for the job interview in Careers. Also, for the Science, I've been learning about Earth Science such as plate tectonics, earthquakes, and volcanoes. And lastly for English, I've been learning about writing paragraphs, writing stories, and timed writing.

It is important because….

Emily: So, we can write using proper sentences and be understood. It is important because I am thinking ahead to which type of careers, I would be good at. 20th century history is important because I'm learning why the world is how it is today. Science is important because I'm learning how the earth changes over time.

Kadin: I need to pass, that's what it is important to get out of high school.

Alyssa: I know more about how earthquakes and volcanoes work. So we can learn about human nature and our impact.

Yuijin: [Social Studies] important because learning about the tragedies of war, [English] is important so we can improve our ability to work in groups and [Careers] so I am thinking ahead to what type of career I would be good at, [Science] is important so I can understand how the earth changes over time.

Casey: The more you learn, you can use the right word every time you want to explain about something you've learned. For English, you'll be able to write a paragraph with proper sentences and be able to think wisely. Careers is important so you can write an actual resume based on what you've been learning. For Science you'll be able to wonder and think how things work and are currently working right now. Lastly for Socials, you can explain about WWI and the events that happened in the 20th century.
